British Deliver Jerusalem from Hands of Arabs; Restore Order

Arabs Entering Old City Met by Fusillade of Heavy Fire, but Escape Losses

Nine Arabs and Take 40 Prisoners Before Main Force Flees from Moslem Section

By JAMES A. MILLS
Jerusalem, Oct. 19 (AP)—About 1,000 British Coldstream Guards entered the Old City of Jerusalem at dawn today and delivered the district from the hands of rebels who had held it for four days.

During rubber-soled shoes for shooting on the ancient cobbled streets, the British troops entered the city through historic Damascus gate and almost immediately met by a strong fusillade of fire.

Within a few hours the troops had driven the Arabs without loss of a British life. At least nine Arabs killed, and 40 were taken prisoner. Two British constables were wounded.

Establish Law and Order

The British established complete law and order in the old city, then a methodical house-to-house search of the district between the Temple and the old city walls.

Food was distributed to beleaguered, half-starved residents. All occupants of houses in the Bab el Quarter of the old city—about one-fifth of the total area—were ordered to leave their homes and were examined for rifle butt marks on their hands in the same manner that soldiers in their civil life are examined for civilian captives for signs of having fought.

Many of the Arab band which had defied control of the Moslem section escaped last night ahead of British expedition.

The British gained freedom through mountain tunnels, others by lowering themselves with ropes.

Hunt for Rebel Band

British troops cordoned off half of the mountain of Acre and started a hunt for a rebel band.

Woman Fined For Hard Cider Sale

Frederick, Md., Oct. 19 (AP)—The cider season is officially here with it came a warning today from the State Department that farmers who sell it should have a license—at least in Frederick county.

Associate Judge Arthur D. Willard fined Mrs. Lucy Toms, 40, for selling cider without a license at her home near Middleburg.

The sentence was pronounced after a minute adjournment of court in which Judge Willard considered legal tones on the sale of cider and found hard cider is alcoholic.

Noting into account Mrs. Toms' claim that she was unaware of the law, a license was required, Judge said and the fine imposed was a precedent for future cases.

Samuel Hanen Ready to Celebrate His 99th Birthday at Moundville

Moundville, W. Va., Oct. 19 (AP)—Samuel R. Hanen, one of the nation's oldest Civil War veterans, came home today to celebrate his 99th birthday.

Mr. Hanen it will be his 100th birthday celebration next Monday, although he will be but 99 years old.

He celebrated his hundredth birthday, he said, "because I had a birthday on the day I was born, Oct. 24, 1839."

Mr. Hanen was born in Moundville and all county residents have reserved for the dinner honoring their venerable friend at the Christian Church Monday evening.

Mr. Hanen returned from his home in Cleveland, O., where he was born in Scioto county, Pa., but moved with his parents to Washington, Pa., when a year old. When he was 29 he came to Cumberland county as a rural school teacher.

During the Civil War, he was a member of the 1st West Virginia Infantry, and was commissioned as a first lieutenant.

Gets $200,000 From Husband, Seeks Divorce

A settlement of $200,000 from Gen. H. C. Bickford, her third husband, is reported to have been made on Eve Bickford (above) before she left New York City to file suit for divorce. Mrs. Bickford will sue either in Florida or Reno.

Insidiously Boring From Within, He Tells Westerners

Says There Must Be No "Steering Citizenship" in U. S.

Los Angeles, Oct. 19 (AP)—Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, warned tonight that "totalitarianism is on the march" in the United States as well as in Europe.

"Totalitarianism is insidiously boring from within the temple of our own liberties as well as assaulting it from without," he declared in an address at the Shrine auditorium under auspices of the Hollywood council for Democracy.

"Our first line of defense against Fascism is a passionate devotion to the American ideal of fraternity and equality of opportunity for all Americans, regardless of origin or mythical descent," he added. "There must be no steering citizenship in the United States."

Seeks Social Justice

"It has become one of the elements of our own self-protection that we bring the forces of social justice within our own borders to equilibrium—in time. The state of our law—the state of our sense of social justice—have become almost as important items in our scheme of national defense as armaments themselves. They must be made right—in time."

"That's what Franklin D. Roosevelt, that's what a liberal Democratic party in the progressive tradition have been trying to do for these past six and one-half years—make those reforms, bring about those changes which will give America complete confidence that we may live in the best possible way for all, not a few, of us to live—before the sands of the hourglass run out in Europe's hands."

Happy Event Has Egypt Breathless

Birth of First Baby of Queen Carida Eagerly Awaited

Alexandria, Egypt, Oct. 19 (AP)—A pink-and-blue handmade layette worth not a cent less than $15,000 was all ready tonight for the child of a queen—the queen of the Egyptians.

As attendants patted down stacks of baby clothes trimmed, in many cases, with rare laces, Egypt's most eminent physicians argued over the probable birth date of good looking 17-year-old Queen Carida's first baby.

If the new arrival, who had been expected this week but now appears to have postponed his (or her) advent until the first week in November, is a boy, he will be heir to the throne.

If it's a girl, the heir apparent will continue to be Prince Mohamed Ali, King Farouk's elderly cousin who was prince regent during the king's two years' minority.

Farida married 18-year-old Farouk last January 20.

All of Egypt was pretty breathless over the coming event, but the queen was calm.

Republic Steel Is Blamed for Strike of 5,000 Workers

Labor Board Orders Company to Reemploy Strikers

APPEAL TO COURTS IS BELIEVED PROBABLE

Company Told to Pay Employees For Losses in "Lockouts"

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—The national labor relations board laid responsibility for the 1937 strike in Republic Steel Corp. plants on the company's "unfair labor practices" today and ordered it to offer re-employment to 5,000 strikers.

There was no immediate word from the company as to whether it would appeal to the courts, but in Cleveland steel circles the opinion was that this was a foregone conclusion.

The board's decision followed in the main, its order of last April which Republic appealed to the U. S. Circuit Court. Subsequently, the labor board withdrew this order when the supreme court condemned the procedure the government had followed in the Kansas City stockyards ruling made by the agricultural department.

Contend Strikers Disqualified

In hearings before the labor board, the steel company contended the strikers had disqualified themselves for re-employment. Its attorneys argued that acts of violence by individual strikers made reinstatement inequitable.

The board excepted only 11 men, however, in its sweeping order for reinstatement of the strikers. Those excluded, the board said, were men who had pleaded guilty to possessing and using explosives and, in one case, to the malicious destruction of property to the value of $300.

The order also instructed the corporation:

Instructions To Company

1. To pay remedial wages to any striker who is not given a job, or placed upon a preferential rehiring list, within five days after he applies for re-employment.

(The company was ordered to dismiss employees hired after the strike, if necessary to make places for reinstated strikers.)

2. To reinstate 12 employees with back pay and to award back wages to 14 others.

3. To pay employees for earnings lost as a result of what the board called "lockouts" at the Canton tin plate mill and Massillon works May 5-20, 1937, and May 20-23 1937.

4. To disestablish as collective bargaining agencies the employee representation plans in the plants at Massillon, Canton, Youngstown, Warren and Cleveland.

Cost Is About $41,000

Board officials estimated that the cost of the order would be about $41,000.

Before They Were Divorced

Pictured above at a New York night club before they were divorced are Ruth Etting, songstress, and Martin Snyder. Snyder was indicted in Hollywood, Cal., yesterday on charge of attempted murder and kidnapping in the shooting of Myrl Alderman, 30-year-old present husband of Miss Etting.

Snyder Indicted by Grand Jury in Shooting of Myrl Anderson

Former Husband of Ruth Etting Held on Three Charges

Los Angeles, Oct. 19 (AP)—Martin Snyder, former husband of Ruth Etting, radio singer, was indicted by the county grand jury today on charges of shooting Myrl Alderman, her accompanist and present spouse, at her Hollywood home last Saturday night.

The indictment accuses Snyder of attempted murder, kidnapping and violation of gun laws. It supersedes a district attorney's complaint and makes a preliminary hearing unnecessary.

Alderman, not seriously wounded, is reported recovering in a hospital. The jury took its vote after hearing Miss Etting, nervous and wearing dark glasses, describe the scene in the music room of her luxurious home in the Hollywood hills.

Snyder, at liberty on $10,000 bond, was called before the jury but re-appeared.

Democrats Charge Republican Bias

Frederick, Md., Oct. 19 (AP)—Republicans bias was charged today to the board of election supervisors in their demand for $748.95 from Herbert R. O'Connor to pay the expenses of a recount during his fight for Democratic nomination as governor.

Francis Petrott, chairman of the local Democratic campaign committee, said the action of the board was "unfair, unjust, uncalled for and was done for the sole purpose of taking advantage of the political situation."

He said the bill, which was reduced from the original amount sought by $127.25 provided it is paid by Friday, was "out of proportion and grossly excessive."

"Mr. O'Connor was ready and willing to pay this bill and would have done so had he been given the courtesy of a notice," Petrott asserted.

"Considering that the local board of supervisors is Republican, publication of that information without courtesy of notice to Mr. O'Connor was unjust and was done for the sole purpose of politics."

Alf Landon Predicts Collapse of New Deal If It Is Not Revised Soon

Vienna, Ill., Oct. 19 (AP)—As a plain citizen interested in "common sense" in government, Alf M. Landon, 1936 Republican presidential nominee, declared today six years of the New Deal has proved it is not the way to recovery and employment.

Landon came to this small town near the Ohio river to help in a Republic drive to win Illinois in the November election. He spoke at the Johnson county fairgrounds to a crowd drawn from Illinois, Indiana and Missouri.

Specifically, Landon accused the New Deal of keeping business in a "constant state of jitters," and charged inconsistency and inconstancy in the New Deal's agricultural policies.

"The farm program, he said, started out with 'noble intentions,' but each time it was changed, it, too, concentrated more power in Washington." He was of the opinion the present program is headed for collapse unless it is revised soon.

"There has been no solution of the unemployment problem, Landon asserted, relief has been 'inadequate,' and its administration has been directed to the building of a 'political machine on a huge scale never before witnessed.'"

Catholic Leaders Blame All "Isms" For World's Ills

Tell Eucharistic Congress Rights Are Being Invaded

65,000 ATTEND MASS IN STADIUM; 500 OVERCOME

About 35,000 School Children Among Huge Throng

New Orleans, Oct. 19 (AP)—Catholic leaders at the eighth National Eucharistic congress today attacked political and philosophical "isms" they blamed for the world's ills.

Fascism, communism, paganism, materialism and naturalism were assailed as instruments of religious and political suppression and racial persecution.

Monsignor Francis J. Haas, of the Catholic university, Washington, said the inherent rights of individuals and families were being invaded if not threatened with destruction.

"It is enough," he said, "to point to the spread of communism, fascism, racism and social injustice. Unnecessary to add they propose a weltanschauung, a philosophy of life totally at variance with fundamental Christian concepts."

Criticizes Some Democracies

Even certain democracies, unnamed, were criticized by the monsignor.

"At present the peoples of the world are living under either authoritarian or democratic governments," he said. "The authoritarian, whether communist or fascist, are functionally governments of terrorism. The principal democracies are thinly-veiled economic dictatorships based on class struggle."

A crowd estimated at 65,000 pressed into the city park stadium to attend a mass for youth. During the ceremony, carried out in a temperature of eighty degrees, approximately 500 persons, mostly children, fainted and were taken to first aid stations.

Although the ceremony was held in the open air, observers said it seemed probable that its length caused many to become fatigued. The throng included about 35,000 school children.

Warns of Fascist Peril

Warning was given by the right Rev. Abbot Alcide Deutsch of Collegeville, Minn., that what is happening to "our brethren—in the fascist and communistic states of Europe, in Spain and in Mexico, is likely to happen also in other states."

But, he said, the "hand of God" must be seen in the totalitarian lands where "the individual interests are being subordinated to the common welfare."

Soldiers Guarding Big Packing Houses

National Guardsmen Hold Order of Sioux City Area

Sioux City, Ia., Oct. 19 (AP)—Iowa national guardsmen tonight assumed control of the packing house district here in the second mobilization of troops on the Iowa labor front in three months.

A detachment of 30 guardsmen marched to the Swift & Co. plant, scene of a C.I.O. packing house strike, from the armory here this afternoon. Meanwhile national guard companies from five other Iowa cities and from Sioux City itself were converging on the strike area to assist civil authorities.

The mobilization order, which will concentrate approximately 500 troops here to prevent a recurrence of recent labor violence, was issued by Iowa Adjutant General Charles H. Grahl at Des Moines following a proclamation from Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel, in response to a request by civil authorities.

The strike was called September 29 when, officials of the C.I.O. union affiliate said, the company refused to meet the union's grievance committee. The company later denied this allegation.

Union workers halted operations at neighboring Cudahy and Armour packing plants today following a turbulent night in which police fired tear gas bombs in an effort to disperse a crowd of men and women around the Swift plant.

The Cudahy and Armour workers declared the day a "holiday" and prevented workers from entering those plants.

Defends Miss Hofmann In New York Spy Case

Rumrich Describes Bungled Moves of Nazi Spies in U. S.

Testifies About Efforts to Secure Plans of Aircraft

Involves Johanna Hofmann As an Employee of German Ring

New York, Oct. 19 (AP)—Bungled machinations of German spies in this country were described in federal court today by Guenther Gustav Rumrich, 32, U. S. army deserter who testified that Nazi agents once plotted to forge President Roosevelt's signature on bogus White House stationery.

Moodily reciting his role as a confessed $40-a-week "mail order" spy, Rumrich said the ring's headquarters in Hamburg, Germany, pressed him for information about the U. S. navy aircraft carriers Enterprise and Yorktown.

The order, he said, came from Karl Schluter, the ring's "contact" man.

"I told him the ships were being constructed in either of the two Atlantic navy yards," Rumrich testified. "He said the German navy was planning to build airplane carriers and that the plans of the United States vessels would be of great help."

Discussed Forgery

With Schluter, he said, he evolved a scheme of getting some fake "White House" letter paper and forging the president's signature to a message ordering the navy department to deliver the plans of the two huge U. S. navy craft.

In his third day as the government's key witness against three defendants, Rumrich said members of the ring rifled mail bags on German-owned Transatlantic liners, tried to enlist "susceptible" U. S. army and navy officers in espionage for Germany, stole the secret "Z code" of the air force, and engaged his younger brother as a spy in Prague in anticipation of Germany's march on Czechoslovakia.

The witness, chewing gum and speaking a little wearily as if tired of the whole business—he said he once considered spying the epitome of glamor—testified that he himself once threatened a U. S. naval officer.

Sons of Harvard Divided on Plan To Make University a Municipality

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 19 (AP)—Harvard officials kept "mum" tonight concerning an attempt of the Cambridge city council to dissolve a 300-year partnership, but the suggestions and speculations of the sons of Harvard and the "townies" were loud and multiple.

A Harvard law school professor thought the council's proposal to make the university a separate municipality would be a "good thing."

The Harvard Crimson, undergraduate daily, howled for a plebiscite and announced it would ask Germany's Chancellor Hitler to officiate.

The Lampoon, Harvard's fun-making monthly magazine, raised a Swastika banner over its headquarters and demanded that it be made a "free city."

The initial move was made last night when the Cambridge city council unanimously adopted a resolution instructing the city solicitor to "file appropriate legislation" in the state legislature to carry out the suggestion that Harvard become a "separate and distinct municipality" paying for its own police, fire and health protection.

The city fathers' suggestion geographically would split the city approximately at its mid-section, the university buildings forming a ribbon across Cambridge almost from side to side.

New fuel was heaped on the fire tonight when it became known Major John J. Lyons ordered the election commission to investigate charges that 2,000 Harvard students were registered illegally for the November election.

Under Cambridge law, no student at any college can register to vote unless he is earning his entire tuition and expenses or is a bona fide resident of the city.

Trapped in Gully In Pennsylvania While Fighting To Save Woods

Three Are Identified But Bodies of Two Are Burned Beyond Recognition at Once

Four Others Taken to Hospitals Badly Burned; Rain Falls in Time to Save Others

Emporium, Pa., Oct. 19 (AP)—Five CCC workers died today in a forest fire which trapped them in a small wooded gully 25 miles south of this North-Central Pennsylvania town.

"They went down pretty quick. I was told, when the wind turned the smoke and flames on them—almost like they had been gassed," an attendant said at the Rishell Funeral Parlor, where the bodies were brought.

Col. C. L. King at Indiana, Pa., district CCC headquarters, said three of the dead had been identified as:

Gilbert Mooney, 40, of Ridgway, Pa., in the technical service of the department of forests and waters, attached to CCC camp 132.

Basil Bogush, 18, Conemaugh, Pa. John Boring, 18, Johnstown, Pa. The other two were burned so badly the bodies could not be immediately identified.

Four in Hospitals

Four were taken to hospitals badly burned about the hands and face. They were Stephen Jacofsky, 18, Johnstown, at St. Mary's Pa.; Peter Damico, 17, Wendell, Pa.; George Vogel, 18, New Kensington, Pa., and Ross Hollobaugh, 18, Rim-camburg, Pa., at Renovo.

Mooney led a squad of about 20 boys into the heavy underbrush and second growth timber which skirts the Sinnamoning Creek. About three o'clock the group was surrounded by four separate fires.

Lieut. Rodman Haynes, commander of the camp, said the five apparently died about 3.30 in the afternoon.

Rain Helps Extinguish Fire

Just about that time a heavy rain began to fall. By night the fire, reported one of the biggest in this area for years, had been extinguished by the rain. Between 500 and 800 acres had been swept by the flames.

Approximately 180 boys, virtually all from Western Pennsylvania, lived at the camp. They had been fighting the fires since Tuesday.

Operators Protest Surcharge on Coal

Washington, Oct. 18 (AP)—Paper manufacturers and textile plant operators joined today in opposition to continued effectiveness of a year-old surcharge of 10 cents a ton on shipments of bituminous coal.

The protests of the paper makers were lodged with the Interstate Commerce Commission by J. M. Bryan representing the Wisconsin Paper and Pulp Manufacturing Association, the objections of the textile operators by L. O. Kimberley of Atlanta, Ga.

Both expressed belief continuation of the rates, scheduled for abandonment December 31, might force their industries to turn to oil, hydro-electric power or other sources for power now supplied by coal.

Under Cambridge law, no student at any college can register to vote unless he is earning his entire tuition and expenses or is a bona fide resident of the city.

Nice Says O'Conor Asked $30,000 Not Due to Contractor

Governor Charges Opponent With Attempted Fraud

Points Out That Judges Turned Down Claim in Baltimore

Westminster, Md., Oct. 19 (AP)—Governor Nice tonight accused Attorney General Herbert R. O'Conor, his Democratic rival for governorship, of attempting to aid a Baltimore contractor to obtain additional funds from the state.

"When Mr. O'Conor makes charges of favoritism and inefficiency in connection with the state roads commission, I am reminded that during the primary campaign he made the statement that he had but one client and that client was the state," Gov. Nice told an audience at the armory.

"It might not be presumptuous for me to call to his attention that he had at least one other client, and that client happened to be a paying contractor for whom he fought valiantly to obtain from the taxpayers of Baltimore City a claim for extras, which when added to the contract price would have made the cost to the people of Baltimore nearly double the amount for which the contractor agreed to do the work."

Asked "$30,000 Extra"

He said O'Conor filed a suit to secure for his client "practically $30,000 extra" after "every effort had been exhausted by him to obtain the money through private negotiation."

When brought to court, Governor Nice said, the judge refused to grant the claim.

He said O'Conor's statements in favor of returning control of county roads to the counties and O'Conor's assertion that a bill for that purpose was killed by the roads commission was "so utterly out of line with the facts in the case as to make it almost ridiculous."

"That bill," said Mr. Nice, "... was killed by the Democratic legislature, which always looked to Mr. O'Conor for guidance" although it had been endorsed by "nearly all of the board of county commissioners in the state."

Controlled Legislature

"Mr. O'Conor, as chief adviser to the legislature, knows full well that practically every proposition endorsed by the state roads commission was refused sanction by the legislature, over which he had almost absolute control and which was Democratic five to one."

"Mr. O'Conor knows that I am not opposed to the return of county roads to the counties, nor am I opposed to the control by them of the funds necessary for their building and maintenance in fact, such legislative action, carrying out the return of the county roads to the counties, would meet with by heartiest approval, and certainly relieve the governor of many problems."

Annapolis Man Is Instantly Killed

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 19 (AP)—Elijah Dawes, 70, was instantly killed this afternoon when he was struck by an Annapolis-bound Baltimore & Annapolis train near Wardour.

The accident occurred in a railway cut. County policeman Homer E. Dawson, who investigated, said Dawes was standing beside the track. Dawson said Motorman Thomas Scharf reported he had blown the whistle as the train approached Dawes, but that the elderly man appeared to fall across the tracks. Dawes' body was severed.

Two Civil Service Positions Are Open

Competitive examinations for civil service positions in Washington as multiunit operator at $1,440 a year and as deputy game management agent in the Bureau of Biological Survey at $1,800 a year have been announced by the United States Civil Service commission.

Applicants must be between the ages of twenty-five and forty years of age.

Full information may be obtained from Frank Storm, secretary of the Civil Service Board of Examiners, at the Cumberland postoffice.

Lost Juror Paves Way for Defendant's Freedom

Pineville, W. Va., Oct. 19 (AP)—Because of a juror the case was lost—or something.

At any rate, Ethel McMillen, Glen Rogers, negro, was acquitted today of killing her husband, Timothy, in 1937.

That wasn't the story last April when another jury convicted her of second degree murder.

That verdict didn't stand, however, for Judge D. M. Easley had to grant a new trial because one of the jurors got lost from the rest during a recess of the trial.

Rowboat Helps to Dock Gigantic Queen Mary

Well, that tiny rowboat with the two men in it isn't actually pulling the Queen Mary, England's huge 82,000-ton liner, into its berth at New York, but because the tugs were on strike the huge ship had to warp into the pier under her own power. The two tiny men in rowboat carried one of the hawsers to shore.

ensign with "dire consequences" if the officer refused to aid the ring.

Wrote to U. S. Ensign He wrote an anonymous letter, he said, to Ensign W. B. Brown, U. S. N., aboard the aircraft carrier Saratoga, at San Pedro, Calif., saying in part:

"There are ways of making money for an enterprising young man who can cash in without much trouble. Why don't you wise up?"

The letter, introduced in evidence by Assistant U. S. Attorney Lester C. Dunigan, advised Brown to communicate with Rumrich through an advertisement in the New York Times as follows:

"Brownie O. M. for contact. W. B."

"Brownie" was one of Rumrich's spy names.

He said he never received an answer from Ensign Brown.

Rumrich Poorly Paid It developed later in Rumrich's testimony that he probably used the phrase "cash in without much trouble" advisedly, from his own experience, since he acknowledged that he had complained bitterly to Schluter of having received no money for two months.

"Schluter told me he visited a certain man on Third avenue who was also indignant at not being paid," he said, "and that he was almost thrown out by the man, who said: 'a fellow supposed to give me $2,000 didn't show up.'"

On that occasion, Rumrich said, Schluter described the Hamburg espionage office as "a sloppy outfit."

Names Miss Hofmann Rumrich said that Schluter told him about rifling mail bags on the North German Lloyd liner Europa, and that Fraulein Johanna ("Jenni") Hofmann, 26, alleged messenger and payoff agent of the ring, who is on trial, was present at the meeting.

"Schluter told me he had just made a very lucky strike," the witness said.

"He said he had gotten hold of a contract between the Bethlehem Steel Corporation and the Amtorg Trading Corporation of New York, a Soviet Russian concern, and that he had obtained the original contract from a mail bag on the Europa, photographed it and then put it back in the mail bag for delivery."

"I was very surprised. I said as far as I knew, international mail bags were pretty well protected against pilfering."

Rumrich related that when he expressed incredulity, Schluter turned to Miss Hofmann and said: "You don't have to believe me. Jenni, get the contract out of your bag."

Rumrich asserted the pretty, red-haired German girl complied, showing him a photographed copy of the Bethlehem-Amtorg contract.

Forgery Plot Balked Rumrich said the plot to forge President Roosevelt's signature was frustrated by his arrest late in February.

For the first time, Rumrich named his erstwhile boon companion in army days as a "confidant" in the ring—defendant Erich Glaser, 28, a darkly handsome former U. S. army private, attached to the 18th reconnaissance squadron at Mitchell Field, Long Island, Eastern air forces G. H. Q.

While Glaser stared at him coldly, Rumrich testified, he told Glaser about a plot to lure Col. Henry W. T. Egin, commandant of Fort Totten, to a New York hotel, overcoat him with "knockout" gas from a fountain pen weapon, and steal mobilization plans for the Eastern seaboard.

Rumrich admitted that Glaser told him the plot was "too fantastic" to carry out, and that he finally agreed.

Glaser's Part in Plot "What part was Glaser to play?" asked Assistant Prosecutor Dunigan.

"He was to rent a room at the Hotel McAlpin in advance. I was to be waiting in the lobby for him with Col. Egin. We would escort the colonel upstairs."

He said "Schmidt," another confederate, was to pose as a window

Halffield Gets Four Years After Pleading Guilty to Extortion

Confesses Sending Threatening Letters Through Mails

Huntington, W. Va., Oct. 19 (AP)—Willie S. Halffield, 42, of Matewan, pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted extortion today and was sentenced by Federal Judge Harry E. Watkins to four years in the federal prison farm at Petersburg, Va.

Halffield had confessed sending threatening letters through the mails to Jim Hendricks, an employee of the State Liquor Commission at Matewan, and Ralph Hoskins.

Twenty-three other defendants, all but six of whom were charged with illegal possession or distilling of liquor, also pleaded guilty and were sentenced.

Bruce Tanner, 20, was sentenced to three years at the federal reformatory at Chillicothe, on a charge of breaking into the post-office at Beverly, Ohio.

In another postal case, Mary Lukas, indicted for embezzlement of funds while an employee of the postoffice at Edgerton was sentenced to two years at the Alderson women's prison.

Darkness Saved Her Miss Etting told how, in her belief, the percussion from the second shot she says Snyder fired, caused the light to go out and saved her life and that of Alderman and Edith Snyder, daughter of Martin.

Miss Etting's voice trembled as she told how they pleaded with Snyder to put the pistol away.

"I'm going to kill all three of you," she quoted her former husband as saying.

"I pleaded more," she said, "arguing with him that he knew it would do no good to kill us, that he would simply go to the gas chamber for it if he did."

"Just then Myrl started to speak. But he didn't get a chance to say more than a word. Moe let fire twice at him. The first bullet went over Myrl's head and lodged in the wall. The second struck him in the stomach. He slumped off the piano bench onto the floor."

"What did Glaser say to this?" Dunigan asked.

"I don't know,"

"He made no response at all?" Interjected Federal Judge John C. Knox.

"Not that I remember," Rumrich said lamely.

Hunter Killed When Mistaken for Animal

Fayetteville, W. Va., Oct. 19 (AP)—Odaway Bowles, 15, of Thayer, was accidentally shot and killed today, the fourth fatality of the current hunting season.

Herman O'Neal, 30, of Thayer, Bowles' hunting companion, told officers he mistook the youth's coat for a moving animal.

Bowles died a few minutes after the accident, which occurred near New River.

Floyd Baxter, 42, prominent Marlinton man, died from shot-gun wounds after a companion fell and accidentally discharged his gun yesterday as they hunted on Elk Mountain.

The art of war has become the supreme, all pervading art of life. No task of military science, however staggering, seems to be beyond the skill and boldness of man, while no task of peaceful adjustment, however small, seems capable of solution by human minds. This is the story of human progress in the year 1938."

Lamps of Reason Out "One by one, in other lands, the lamps of reason are going out," whether they will be relighted in our time, or in our children's time, no one may dare say. Will they grow dim in our own country too? Five years ago, when the darkness first began to settle over Europe, no intelligent man or woman in this country would have taken the question seriously. Tonight no intelligent man or woman can think of much else.

"Countries that today enjoy the blessings of liberty under democratic forms of government tomorrow may find themselves deprived of those liberties by a totalitarian dictatorship."

"And let us make no mistake. Totalitarianism is on the march. We are not safe."

Totalitarianism is insidiously boring today from within the temple of our own liberties as well as assaulting it from without.

Appeals for Unity "What needs to be done? First of all, it seems to me, we need an acid bath of self-examination that will bite through all false slimes of snobishness, of exclusiveness, of petty jealousies and petty prejudices of caste, and get down to a clean, hard core or realization that the interests of all Americans are one—that we will hang together or we will hang separately if we cannot make good on a belief that a hundred different kinds of people can honestly seek and share a common destiny."

"It is the American ideal that in our fathers' house there may be many mansions—not barracks and concentration camps. Our first line of defense against fascism is a passionate devotion to the American ideal of fraternity and equality of opportunity for all Americans, regardless of origin or mythical descent. There must be no stereotyping in the United States."

Hitler's Demands For a Peace Pact Claimed Too High

France Believed Unlikely To Accept Offer from Berlin

Chancellor Said to Have Asked Superiority in Planes

Paris, Oct. 19 (AP)—Chancellor Hitler's reported price for a guaranty of Franco-German peace appeared too high to France today.

In preliminary conversations Germany was said in well-informed quarters to have offered to guarantee French frontiers against attack if France would return Togo and the Cameroons, pre-war German colonies in West Africa; if France would recognize that Germany should have numerical superiority in war planes and if France would assure Germany a free hand in central and eastern Europe and renounce the Franco-Russian mutual assistance pact.

May Reach Agreement

The possibility remained, however, that sufficient common desire existed so that some kind of an agreement might be reached. English leaders have been described as urging the French to seek something parallel to the Anglo-German friendship pact initiated at Munich.

In the willingness of both France and Germany to explore possibilities of a non-aggression pact some Paris observers pressed to see a diplomatic game aimed at Italy—a warning by France that Italy should confine itself to the Mediterranean and a hint by Germany that unless Italy abandoned its support for Hungarian claims Germany could find a powerful friend in France.

Count Johannes Von Welzcek, German ambassador to France, talked to Georges Bonnet, foreign minister. Andre Francois-Poncet, French ambassador at Berlin, flew to Hitler's Bavarian home, Berchtesgaden.

The visit to Bonnet today followed a talk Von Welzcek had with Premier Edouard Daladier on returning from Berlin.

Russian Situation Studied

Daladier's friends hoped an agreement with Germany would improve his domestic position. He had conversations with the Soviet ambassador, Jacob Surits, presumably as to what effect a Franco-German agreement would have on Franco-Soviet relations.

In a drive against spies the French Government forbade foreigners to settle in the Paris region without special authorization. Resident foreigners and tourists are exempt. Giuseppe Piccone, listed in police records as an Italian anarchist, was arrested as he was leaving on a boat train for the United States. He was accused of violating an order expelling him in 1929.

Obliging Stranger Robs Woman of $25

Charleston, W. Va., Oct. 19 (AP)—Mrs. R. G. Edmonds will think again before she accepts any more help from obliging passersby.

She told police today she locked herself out of her apartment. A young man passing by offered to get a ladder, climb through the upstairs window and let her in.

He did so and although Mrs. Edmonds thought there was quite a delay, she did not say anything when the young fellow at last opened the door.

Later she discovered the place had been ransacked and $25 in cash taken, she said.

Pipe-Bifers Called Baby Thumb-Suckers

Boston, Oct. 19 (AP)—The man who munches on the stem of an unlit pipe or chews on a cigar butt is just a big baby, in the opinion of a Boston University College of Medicine professor.

"The fellow who walks around all day with an unlit pipe, or who munches a cigar is only reverting to the child-hood practice of thumb-sucking," said Dr. Walter L. Mendell, professor of pharmacology at B. U. today.

He says the same of pencil-chewers and finger-nail biters.

However, said the professor (a non-smoker) the matter of biting on a pipe, or chewing on a cigar butt "may be a form of relaxation."

To Build Garage C. E. Howdysell, 121 Oak street, has been granted a permit by the office of R. L. Rizer, city engineer, to erect a one-story garage eighteen feet wide by twenty-seven feet long, at an estimated cost of $350. The garage will be built of galvanized iron by the Taylor Lumber Co.

War Department To Spend $9,000,000 More For Defense

Private Manufacturers Get Many Orders for Munitions

Large Contracts Go to 40 Firms, Mostly in East

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—The war department ordered more than $9,000,000 worth of munitions from private manufacturers today, clearing the way further for any new moves to bolster the national defense contemplated by President Roosevelt.

The orders swelled to $19,187,050 the munitions contracts awarded in the last six weeks.

Presumably anticipating quickening of defense preparations, ordnance officers have been working overtime to start work without delay on the anti-aircraft guns, ammunition and other arms for which Congress provided funds this year.

40 Firms Get Contracts

The latest contracts went to about 40 firms, mostly in the East. The largest, $2,317,291 for smokeless powder, was awarded to the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and Company, Wilmington, Del. This was the major item in ammunition purchases totaling more than $4,000,000, which included demolition bombs of 100, 600, 1,100 and 2,000 pounds.

A $2,093,680 contract was given Coits Patent Fire Arms Manufacturing Company, Hartford, Conn., for Browning Machine Guns for the infantry.

Providing for the largest outlay for arms since the immediate post-war period, Congress appropriated $48,038,259 for army ordnance in this year's war department appropriation act, and in addition authorized contracts of $12,900,000.

Many Commercial Contracts

Of this figure, the war department allotted $24,631,444 to commercial contracts, of which $19,187,050 has been accounted for. The department does not disclose the work done in army arsenals, including making barrels for some 240 new anti-aircraft guns.

Included in today's contracts were orders for apparatus to adapt war-time French 75 millimeter cannon to speedy transport behind trucks, and armor plate and engines for a new type of "medium" tanks adopted this year.

sum involved under items 3 and 4 was about $41,000. The order said the company could deduct sums employees had earned on other jobs when computing remedial payments, but if these sums included wages earned on federal, state, or local government work projects, the company must pay it over to the agency.

The lengthy decision set forth a long list of alleged unfair labor practices by the company and said the history of these practices "had placed the union (the C. I. O. steel workers organizing committee) in a position where it had to fight for its life or be destroyed. The company, not the union, had chosen the way of industrial strife."

Expressed in that way, there would be no direct reopening of party sores left by the Roosevelt "purge" tactics, although the same liberal vs. conservative principle would be restated. And Washington observers lean to the belief that Mr. Roosevelt will re-state it in some fashion November 4.

The steel industry alone consumes approximately 3,360,000 electric light bulbs annually.

An inch of rainfall per acre of land weighs approximately 100 tons.

That fact has created speculation as to whether the Hyde Park address may not deal with administration policy in the next congress regarding the economic plight of the carriers as well as in the rail strike crisis.

These are only high-lights of subjects the president may have in mind to touch upon. Moreover, even if the president decides to omit mention of parties and candidates outside of New York, that would not prevent a renewal of the appeal to voters to pick liberals as against conservatives, for senate and house or for governor.

Believe Roosevelt Will Speak on His New Deal Program

President's Talk Nov. 4 Eagerly Awaited by Politicians

Broadcast May Reveal Next Phases of the New Deal

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—Political interest in President Roosevelt's scheduled broadcast from Hyde Park November 4, is keyed to a high pitch, because of the expectation by most observers that he will have something to say about the next legislative phase of the New Deal.

There are increasing indications that what he says to the nation that night as president will overshadow in importance what he may say to fellow New York voters about the state campaign.

For the president to go on the air four days before a congressional election is in itself a novelty in American politics. There is no exact parallel for last minute intervention by a president in an off-year campaign.

The nearest approach to it was President Wilson's appeal of October 25, 1918, for election of a Democratic congress to help him press the war and avert what might be construed abroad as a repudiation of his national leadership.

The political back-fire of that action paved the way for Republican return to national power two years later.

Observer of Wilson Franklin Roosevelt, as a member of the Wilson "little cabinet," was an intimate observer of Wilson strategy of that day. Whatever form his November 4 address takes, no specific request for election of Democrats is expected by observers.

Yet, however his address is phrased, in effect Mr. Roosevelt will be asking the nation for a vote of confidence in his administration and its objectives just as much as President Wilson did in 1918. That prospect leads many political on-lookers to conclude he may intend outlining in at least general terms the major objectives he expects to set before the new congress in January.

The speech could afford Mr. Roosevelt opportunity to explain the circumstances abroad which prompted him to order a new study of national armaments.

By November 4, too, the report of the president's fact-finding board seeking to avert a nationwide rail strike will be before the country.

May Refer To Railroads That fact has created speculation as to whether the Hyde Park address may not deal with administration policy in the next congress regarding the economic plight of the carriers as well as in the

O. P. Prospects Cheer Business

John D. M. Hamilton Declares In Dayton Address

Dayton, Ohio, Oct. 19.—Prospects for new heart and courage to go ahead, John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican National Committee declared here in an address before a Republican rally.

Hamilton declared business knew that the Republican victory this fall was an end to the half-baked New Deal experiments which have so far retarded our economic recovery. In the event of a substantial gain in November, Hamilton envisioned an economic upturn similar to that which followed the invalidation of N.R.A. by the Supreme Court.

Ended by Experimenting
The Republican chairman contended that period of recovery was brought to an end by a series of New Deal experiments. He contended that the administration's labor policy which encouraged the siting of strikes and the President's demand for packing of the Supreme Court, Election of Republicans to Congress, he contended, would be a setback against the repetition of the New Deal. Hamilton made clear that in criticizing the New Deal he was referring to "radical or visionary experiments that are impractical and more harm to the country than good." He said Republicans had no quarrel with progressive measures to advance the general welfare within the framework of the Constitution. "We are not opposed," he asserted, "to legislation which stamps out and protects the great majority of people."

Would Improve Act
Discussing in some detail the Republican attitude toward Social Security, he said the party aim was to "improve and make workable" that legislation. He quoted from a bulletin of the American Association for the Security, of which Abraham Lincoln, "father of Social Security" this country, is editor, to demonstrate that this group made the criticisms of the present Social Security law as have Republicans. Hamilton also pointed out that the bank deposit insurance originally was sponsored by Senator Arthur Vandenberg, Republican of Michigan, and that President Roosevelt opposed such legislation until its enactment. He quoted the president as calling insurance of deposits "quite dangerous" and "and that the Vandenberg deposit insurance amendment "be rejected in toto."

This machine is expected to help scientists to determine how bacteria are permissible with danger of one's contracting such diseases as pneumonia, typhoid fever and influenza.

Andrews Is Taking Own Medicine As Wage-Hour Law Administrator

By SIGRID ARNE
(AP) Feature Writer
Washington—Elmer Frank Andrews drew a basketful of dirty looks from his fellow engineers a few years back when he suggested in a speech that they might be doing just half a job.

He said engineers knew a lot about stress and strain on steel; but what were they doing about stress and strain on humans?

So now it seems poetic justice that Andrews should be the chief Stress-and-Strainer for the New Deal. Or, as he's listed, administrator of the wages-and-hours law.

That means there's plenty of stress and strain on Andrews right now. By Oct. 24 every business operating in interstate commerce must be set up to pay all its employees at least twenty-five cents an hour, and work them no more than 44 hours a week. It's Andrews' job to see that they do that.

Sounds cut and dried, but it isn't. Southerners are screaming they can't pay as much as the North. Others scream they have peak-work weeks in which men can't stop work at the end of 44 hours without spoiling merchandise. Others aren't sure whether they're running "inter" or "intra" state businesses. And to top it off, 50,000 people want to work for Andrews, and another 100,000 or more have already written to him about their job troubles. Some are mad because they think the law is already in effect, and here they're still running an elevator or something 70 hours a week for seven cents an hour.

In the midst of the whole hullabaloo Andrews is quiet. He has a slow, unruffled way of talking. He's tall, thin, and 47. Hunched forward, sitting or walking as though he were sighting through a fog with his big, black eyes that have a concealed, half-laugh in them. His face is tanned and heart-shaped.

His office is down the hall from that of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins who first argued him into quitting engineering for public office. That was in 1929 when Andrews was planning an arterial highway system for the Queensboro Chamber of Commerce, New York. He says he was lobbying. Most lobbyists don't admit it. Anyway, the system went through—mostly on Andrews' plans.

But when Miss Perkins, then New York state industrial commissioner, offered Andrews a job as assistant, he was surprised. He'd never met the lady. Still doesn't know how she heard about him. But he took the job, and then moved up into her New York state post when she came to Washington.

Andrews was graduated from Rensselaer Polytechnic, enlisted for the World War as an aviator. To his disappointment he was sent to Mitchell Field to train other fliers. He's never piloted a ship since he left there. He takes time for golf, and goes around in the low 80's. He's cheating his purse to take the Washington job. New York paid him $12,000 with $2,400 yearly expenses. The United States pays him $10,000 and no expenses.

"And don't forget the car and chauffeur I was furnished in New York," he adds with a grin. But he's only acting put-upon. Really, he enjoys this wages-and-hours job. Thinks it's the key to our attempt to regain prosperity. Says quietly to critics, "Congress devised the law to aid both employers and workers." He means that now decent employers can pay fair wages without fear of sweatshop competition.

He thinks the 25-cent minimum, in the long run, will tend to drive wages up. He predicts that states will pass similar laws to force similar work standards in local businesses.

He doesn't talk about the law like a crusade, just an engineer with a new engine to run. And he can swing a mighty oil can over a creaking joint. As in the case of the 62 laundries that were charged with chiseling on the New York state minimum wage. The law said the names of violators could be published, so Andrews handed out the 62 names. Most scurried to cover. Andrews talked some of the others around. The hold-outs were prosecuted.

He's laid down some rules for his office here: The law must be enforced, but no step must be taken hastily nor before everyone interested has had his say. He's hand-picking a staff to do the work, and the first two things he says he wants to know about applicants is, "Is he honest?" and "Can he mean business and still be reasonable?"

Andrews tried to slip into the Washington picture quietly. But he found out how hard that was when his appointment was announced and pictures were printed of him and Mrs. Andrews, the son, and the two teen-age daughters. One showing Andrews sprinkling his garden (lot 50 by 100). The following week he got a letter from Oregon addressed to "The Andrews Estate."

His son made the unkindest cut of all. He wrote, from the University of Pennsylvania, where he's studying, "You know you haven't sprinkled the lawn in ten years, and what kind of an engineer are you to use a leaky hose?"

Sure enough, the picture showed the hose was leaking.

Snyder Stresses Home Protection

Appeal to Women Voters Is Made By Kingwood Nominee

Kingwood, Oct. 19.—In a strong appeal to the women voters of the Second West Virginia congressional district, Melvin C. Snyder, of Preston county, Republican nominee for Congress, today stressed the necessity for protecting the American home by returning government to the American people, free from presidential pressure designed to secure re-election to Congress of "hundred percenters."

"It is time for stock-taking," declared the Kingwood lawyer, "time for correct analysis of those conditions brought about by New Deal policies and legislation which are foreign to the American ideal. Time to think of representative government instead of rubber stamp government."

Much Damage Done
"The administration's highly-touted 'economy of scarcity'—which Mr. Roosevelt ridiculed in 1932 when a candidate—that was supposed to flower into 'the more abundant life' has withered and died," the Republican nominee asserted, "and in dying has done irreparable damage."

"The New Deal plan of restricted production," he continued, "has restricted everything but hard times, high cost of living, and waste of public money. It has restricted income but increased taxes; restricted employment but increased the size of the army on relief; restricted personal rights and liberties but given free rein to crackpot theorists who toss away dollars confiscated from the taxpayers on projects upon which they wouldn't risk a penny of their own.

The Women Know
"It is the women of America who know the meaning of 'sacrifice' during hard times," the young Republican leader added. "They want to protect the American home and its standards of living. They do not want husbands, fathers and sons and brothers to tramp the streets hopelessly looking for work; nor go on bended knees to any politician to ask for a hand-out."

"They do not want to see children growing up with no career open to them except a part-time job at subsistence wages on W.P.; the politicians willing," Snyder concluded. "They know the right to work is God-given and inherent, and that no personal political machine should ever be allowed to prevent for political purposes honest effort and individual initiative."

"They want a free America and from the promises of support at the polls they have given me all over the Second district, I'm confident they will do their part on November 8 to see that the flag of freedom again flies over the Halls of Congress in Washington."

Fort Hill and La Salle to Clash Tomorrow

City Rivals Meet For Seventh Time On the Hill Top

Sentinels Have Won Last Three While Institute Took First Two

LA SALLE HOPEFUL OF CRASHING GOAL LINE

Blue & Gold Adherents Point to Tough Teams Squad Has Played

Tomorrow night's intra-city football pow-wow between La Salle High and the Fort Hill Toppers will be the seventh meeting on the gridiron between these two scrappy teams.

This series between La Salle and Fort Hill (formerly Penn Avenue High) began back in 1932, when Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh inaugurated the "manly art" of football at the South End factory of education, with La Salle winning by a 6-0 margin.

It was considered that Penn Avenue would improve on its former undertaking in the 1933 season, but La Salle, still the stronger, copped the second series game 26-6, thus making the count two up on the Cavanaugh elevens.

In 1934 the Penn-men succeeded in holding La Salle to a scoreless tie, making the first of four straight shutouts Fort Hill-Penn Avenue as-gregations have handed La Salle on the white-barred turf.

Penn First Won in '35 Cavanaugh, still laboring at the South End school, copped his first football series battle over the Catholic institution in 1935, when his boys presented him with a 24-0 victory. "Bobby" squared the count at two all in moving to Fort Hill in 1936 when the Scarlet and White won by a score of 25-0.

Last Fall, when Johnny Long took the helm, Fort Hill again mowed down La Salle in the annual series by winning 19-0, and incidentally, the Sentinels expect to make it four in a row by copping Friday's skirmish.

"Pat" Conway, now with West Catholic, Philadelphia, Pa., who is responsible for La Salle's first victories over Penn Avenue, was the victim of the 24-0 loss in 1935, but the defeats of the two following years were scored at the expense of La Salle's present coach Johnny Blough who received his football tutoring when the present Sentinel mentor, Long, coached the Catholics.

Friday night's rivals reached the mid-way marker of 10-game schedules last week-end with Fort Hill's record showing two victories and three defeats and La Salle's two ties along with three setbacks.

La Salle Fans Hopeful

Any team going through five previous encounters without registering a single figure can hardly be regarded as a good team, but the La Salle fans point out that the Blough boys have been indulging in a "suicide" schedule while the Scarlet and White owes its slightly better record to a much easier card.

To date the Catholics and Sentinels have had no opponents in common, La Salle tying Davis (W. Va.) High and St. Mary's High of Clarksburg, W. Va., while losing to Altoona Catholic High, Pittsburgh Central Catholic High and St. Francis High of Morgantown, W. Va., with Fort Hill trimming Petersburg (W. Va.) High and Berkeley Springs (W. Va.) High and losing to Charles Town (W. Va.) High, Meyersdale (Pa.) and Keyser High.

Therefore, there is little comparison for either team on or off their records. Friday night's clash will probably draw a capacity house because neither squad appears to be given the edge much less a decided advantage.

Davis High Points for Thomas Game on Friday

Davis, W. Va., Oct. 19.—Coach Ira McDowell of the Davis High School Wildcat football team is pointing his eleven for Friday's traditional game with Thomas High at Thomas. Fort Hill starts at 3 p. m. McDowell has expressed himself only fairly pleased with the team's record to date. The book shows a victory over Franklin High by the score of 18 to 0, two losses—one to Allegheny High of 6 and Martinsburg 19 to 6, and the 7-7 tie game with LaSalle Institute of Cumberland.

The Wildcats have healthy respect for Thomas which the first time in several years rules a favorite to win.

Thomas High's position as the favorite was justly earned last Friday when it held the strong Parsons High team to a 6 to 0 score. The Parsons team outwitted Thomas but the scrappy Thomas boys actually outplayed Parsons through most of the game and lost mainly because of the breaks.

McDowell is not decided on his starting lineup and some new faces may be seen on the field at the start of the game. Some of the substitutes have been coming along fast and it won't be surprising to see Robert Iden start at halfback and Reed and Jones in guard and tackle positions, respectively.

Marshall College Not to Play Post-Season Game

Huntington, W. Va., Oct. 19 (AP)—Coach Cam Henderson of Marshall College declined today to commit the Thundering Herd to a post-season football charity game with Villanova College.

He referred to an invitation to the two colleges by Henderson Peebles, of Charleston. The game would be played at the Capital December 10.

Marshall College "might be interested later," Henderson added. "... but I don't think it would be wise to make any such decision now. It might develop later that our team would not be as desirable an attraction as it seems now."

Both teams are undefeated this season, Villanova having defeated American Institute, Muhlenberg and Centre. Marshall holds victories over Carson-Newman, Ohio Wesleyan, Miami and Oklahoma City University.

Villanova is tentatively scheduled to play Loyola at Los Angeles December 18.

Board of Education Puts Ban On Non-Faculty Athletic Coaches

According to a recent ruling of the Allegany County Board of Education, announced yesterday by Superintendent of Schools Charles L. Kopp, Melvin "Newt" Henry, of Cumberland, former Penn Avenue High and Virginia Poly athlete, must relinquish his duties as coach of basketball at Central High, Lonsconing. The Board of Education's order was passed over a week ago.

Henry who was to succeed Armstrong, as announced by Arthur F. Smith, principal of Central High, was to coach the school boys' basketball squad in an effort to revive Central's prestige in that sport.

Must Quit Immediately "Newt," who was graduated from Virginia Poly last spring and has a local job, started pre-season practice at Central on Monday, October 3, after agreeing to coach the squad during his spare time, but the School Board's order means that he will have to abandon his connection with the team immediately.

At a regular meeting of the Board of Education, held on Tuesday, October 11, the Board passed a motion stating that no school in the county was to be permitted to employ a coach of athletics and that no assignment of coaching activities be permitted by any principal of the county on the part of any coach who is not a member of the regular faculty of the school. This motion was adopted after a full discussion.

"We have nothing but the highest regard for Mr. Henry," Superintendent Kopp said, "but as a matter of policy the board members decided against the hiring of outsiders to coach high school teams."

Principal Smith, after consulting with certain other school officials before entering into an agreement with Henry, acted prematurely in completing arrangements before securing a definite statement from the full Board of Education, it was stated.

At that's necessary to get fan mail from Minnesota is to write something nice about Pittsburgh. A letter from "the gang and spokesmen" (Dr. H. C. La Bissoniere of St. Paul) reminds us Minnesota liked Pitt, 7-3 in 1933 and 13-7 in 1934. "We wish we could play Pitt every year," writes the gang. It's a shame the Pitt-Minnesota series isn't renewed. Not only was it a great show but it came early enough to help the experts get a "morning line" on two teams that year after year are tops or close to tops.

Chamber of Commerce Cox, the guy who makes fools of ball players each spring by asking them to pose before a plateless camera, writes from Tracy, Minn., that the pheasants are so thick you can grab 'em empty-handed. "Tell all the boys," wires C. C. C., "not to look for a better place than these parts. I'll guarantee anyone a guide and their's some up here who could make the follies." In case you're interested.

"Poor" Babe Ruth Big and little All-American nominations are coming in by the bushel from our operatives in the pigskin fields.

C. J. Abbey of the Geneva, N. Y. Daily Times, is ruffled because too many sports writers are writing "poor, old Babe Ruth" stories. Mr. George Herman Ruth, writes Abbey, "got paid for every minute he worked for the great American pastime... Mr. George Herman Ruth has no more reason for expecting to be a manager of men than Joe Louis has... why keep on harping on a subject so foreign to good sports writing?"

A hit tough on the Babe but we promise to lay off. After all, Babe's worth around a million dollars. Maybe he should carry the torch for the sports writers. I'm willing.

J. Palmouth Sween, undefeated and untied switch-thrasher—"Your question is full of wrong implications, but right this minute I can't think what they are."

Armando Di Salvo, Uruguayan bridge-jumper, questioned in the act of jumping off the George Washington Bridge in a union suit—"America is a paradise for bridge-jumpers. What bridges! What jumpers! What terrible food! Frankly, Amigo Mio, I am revolted."

Walter Whelp, popular descender of telephone booths—"Pittsburgh belongs in that there Bowl, along with California."

Miss Birdie Gillespie, Newfoundland violin instructor—"Try that again and I will hit you in the other eye."

The inquiring reporter returned from his assignment with the general impression that times are better.

"Look at Glenn Cunningham, for instance," he points out. "He has cut six seconds off Nurm's best time."

This and other significant features of our undefeated, untied, and unsolicited poll will be passed on to the Rose Bowl authorities, and if they don't want them, maybe the Philadelphia Phillies do.

Any other independent soccer team wishing to secure games, phone the Old Germans, Lonaconing, or would dream of ad-jug.

There is an old football story about a coach at a small college with an amazing record of victories who was called before the president to explain how it happened that the football squad included many boys from distant parts of the country who might reasonably have been expected never to have heard of this college in the ordinary course of events.

"Why, I don't know how they all got here," the coach said. "It must be that these boys just love me."

Well, not all of the Pitt players love Jock Sutherland. They never get close enough to him for that. He looks after them like a father—the night before a game he will not leave them until they have retired and he does everything but tuck them in bed—but, for all the genuine affection he has for them, he is reserved and often stern in his attitude toward them. The Pitt players, hearing players on other teams address their coaches as Tom or Dick or Harry, are amazed. None of them ever would dream of ad-jug.

'Pop' Goldberg Has Yen to Write Sports

Wants to Earn Some Money--Scribe Tired of Babe Ruth Moan

BL PAUL MICKELSON New York, Oct. 19 (AP)—Putting two and two together—and getting four—between peeks at the incoming mail:

Time hangs heavy on Sol Goldberg's hands. Sol sold his movie business at Elkins, W. Va., so he could have more time to follow his son, Marshall, and the Pittsburgh football team. Now he'd like to get a job as a newspaperman covering the Pitt games. "All I do now is spend money," writes Sol. "Why can't I earn some writing sports? It's a soft life, you fellows have. Any newspaper desiring my services should write or wire Goldberg at Elkins."

Sol also insists he would be a good football scout or a salesman.

Lardner Gets "Shiner" From Girl He Asked "Who'll Go to Rose Bowl"

BY JOHN LARDNER Copyright, 1938 New York, Oct. 19.—We sent the inquiring reporter out to interview the man, woman, and kiddie in the street this week on the question, "Who will go to the Rose Bowl?"

The first guy to be questioned replied, "one hundred thousand suckers, friend, one hundred thousand suckers." This seemed like a pretty cynical attitude, and the inquiring reporter threw the answer out on the ground that it was incompetent, immaterial, and delivered with a strong Siberian accent.

After that, the pool became very interesting, and we are proud to announce that we have got the jump on the rest of the field on this important issue.

The inquiring reporter returned to our office with a suitcase full of data, six hotel towels, and a black eye, the gift of Miss Birdie Gillespie, of Newfoundland, who seems to have formed the wrong impression.

The Voice of the People We forgave Miss Gillespie freely and will proceed to list our findings, which practically amount to a mandate:

Arnold J. Undadunk, New Mexico rat exterminator, interviewed in the act of leading a rat to the gallows. "my choice for the Rose Bowl is Pittsburgh. Those Nittany Lions have got the best team in the south, and I don't care who knows it."

Senor Enrico Gonzaga, retired flute-cleaner, aged 76—"Rose Bowl? Rose Bowl? Rose Bowl?"

Gretchen Funk, popular Saskatchewan debutante—"At the end of a hard day in the debutante racket, pouring tea, spearing salmon, musing over the trail with the serum, I always light an old whisker. I find they are kind to my gums."

Elihu St. Vincent Astorlip, fashionable fugitive from justice—"Syrracon figures to go to the Rose Bowl. If she gets past Michigan State and Colgate."

Doremus Dregs, reformed pianotuner, interviewed while fighting off the temptation to tune just one quick piano before dinner—"Minnesota belongs in the Rose Bowl if they can get around that conference rule. I am glad you asked me. I don't give a darn one way or the other."

Emile De La Poule De Grand Promage, international big-game hunter, interrupted while hunting for a big game ($5 limit) in room 1098—"A thousand million little blue pigs! How is that a French citizen cannot go anywhere in your great country, with its tall women, without being insulted?"

Joe McVickers, lovable ghoul—"Tennessee will get that Rose Bowl bid."

Emily Chauncey, undefeated shoplifter, interviewed while cleaning out the linen counter in Goldfarb's basement—"You have made me the happiest woman in the world."

Wise Words From A Hermit Lexington Spanner, discovered hiding in a cave a few miles east of Vincennes, Ind.—"I owe most of it to clean living, old man. Villanova will be the Bowl."

He plays the lazy heir of an industrial baron whose highest ambition is to direct his own orchestra, although his father wants him to become a pigskin star.

Forced into a football uniform and turned into a gridiron sensation by the combined efforts of the whole college, Penner finds himself in plenty of hot water because his father's promised endowment to the school has prompted the faculty to exert every effort to make him a star athlete. The ensuing climax is hectic and hilarious!

Richard Lane, known as "Droopy" on the comedian's radio program, is seen as a football coach in this RKO Radio picture, while pretty June Travis has the feminine lead. Others in the cast are Ben Alexander, Billy Gilbert, Jack Carson and Alan Bruce.

Hailed as another Capra triumph, Columbia's screen version of the George S. Kaufman-Moss Hart Pulitzer Prize play, "You Can't Take It With You," opens today at the Maryland Theatre with a cast which includes Jean Arthur, James Stewart, Lionel Barrymore, Edward Arnold, Mischa Auer, Ann Miller and numerous others.

"You Can't Take It With You" was produced and directed by Frank Capra from the screen play by Robert Riskin. These Columbia filmmakers have been lauded time and again for their "It Happened One Night," "Lady For A Day," "Lost Horizon" and "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town." "You Can't Take It With You," based on the stage success for which Columbia paid $200,000, is said to exceed even the previous efforts of the two brilliant collaborators.

The new film deals with the lovable and perfectly delightful Vanderhof family, which believes in doing whatever it wants whenever it wants to.

In their old New York home, presided over by Grandpa Vanderhof, this uninhibited group reveals a heart-warming attitude toward life in a merry melange of comedy, flavored with romance and tinged with pathos.

"You Can't Take It With You" is concerned, in part, with the proud aristocratic Kirbys, as well as with the carefree Vanderhofs. Kirby's monumental plan to form a huge munitions merger, a move which requires the purchase of all property within an area of twelve city blocks, is halted when Grandpa refuses to sell the Vanderhof home at any price.

The plan of Kirby's son to marry Alice Sycamore, his secretary, is blocked when the boy brings his parents to dinner one night, only to discover the Vanderhof family engrossed in its various eccentric affairs.

The romance and merry-mad conflict of the two families, coupled with the enjoyable hobbies of the Vanderhofs and their many friends, is declared to make "You Can't Take It With You" one of the outstanding productions of the season.

Prominent in the supporting cast of the new Capra film are Spring Byington, Samuel S. Hinds, Dub Taylor, Donald Meek, H. B. Warner, Halliwell Hobbes, Eddie Anderson and Lillian Yarbo. Dimitri Tiomkin composed the musical score.

"Woman Against Woman" and "Fury Below"

Also on the same program will be another thrilling chapter of "The Adventures of Wild Bill Hickok."

"Winterset" Played During Downpour

Twenty-two of the thirty-five days of filming "Winterset" were lived against a background of steadily-pouring rain, with members of the cast consequently forced to play scenes in water-soaked clothing.

Love's fatal arrow strikes Jean Parker and John Beal, the romantic leads, in the new Bob Burns comedy-drama of home town life, "The Arkansas Traveler," which opens Friday at the Strand Theatre.

Jean Parker and John Beal Play Romantic Leads

The romantic leads in the new Bob Burns picture, "The Arkansas Traveler," a story of home life in America, are played by two of the screen's best-liked younger players—John Beal and Jean Parker. They are members of an all-star cast headed by Burns, Fay Bainter, Lyle Talbot, Irvin S. Cobb and Dickie Moore.

Beal, a young man who won widespread attention in "Madame X" and "Double Wedding," will be seen as the scapegrace son of a corrupt small town mayor who campaigns to remove his father from office and end political corruption in the community. Under the sponsorship of Burns, the crusading editor of the local paper, he runs against his father in one of the most rollicking campaigns on record.

Miss Parker, Beal's sweetheart in the picture, which comes tomorrow to the Strand Theatre, is the hot-tempered daughter of the local newspaper owner, Miss Bainter. Her

New Water Line Planned to Make 1,000 WPA Jobs

Second Main from Lake
Gordon Into City is Proposed

CITY RELIEF PROJECTS TERMED OVERCROWDED

Extra Pipe to West Side is Also Considered, Says
Mayor

Plans are under discussion for a WPA project to lay a new cross-town water line to the West Side and a new 36-inch line into the city from Lake Gordon, Mayor Thomas W. Koon announced last night.

The project would employ 1,000 laborers for a year, but still not cost the city more than an estimated $75,000, Dr. Koon pointed out.

"There'll be a bond issue, if it's financed at all," said the mayor and declined to enlarge further on ways and means of raising the $75,000.

Baltimore Officials Here

The plans were discussed yesterday afternoon at a meeting of WPA officials with Dr. Koon in the mayor's office. The WPA was represented by Edward F. Hovermill, resident engineer for Allegheny county; and Harry D. Willard, deputy administrator, and F. W. Springer, area representative, of Baltimore, who have been touring Allegheny and Garrett county projects.

Mayor Koon said it had been agreed that city street projects can properly handle only 500 men, whereas nearly 1,400 are working the streets at present.

Workers Crowded

"We have to find some other place for them, they're getting in each other's way," the mayor declared.

Prominence has been given lately to numerous charges and counter-charges of drunkenness, idleness, and insubordination on WPA projects here.

"We don't have to have this new water main from Lake Gordon right now," the mayor said, "but it seems the best way to put these men to work."

"The cross-town line to the West Side is needed, and work will start on that first," he said. "There is not sufficient water on the West Side now to supply industry if one would want to move here."

Reserve Line Needed

"As for the second line from Lake Gordon, it is needed, because if something went wrong with the one line we now have, Cumberland would be without water."

There is already one 36-inch concrete main from Lake Gordon to the city. It was put in about ten years ago, the mayor said, and has given no trouble. The line runs eight miles up hill and down.

The cross-town line will run from Bedford street to the foot of the mountain, the mayor said, and will be a 24-inch line.

Other projects slated for possible consideration here, such as flood control, a hospital addition, and an overhead viaduct, would call for more expenditure by the city in proportion to the number of men who could be given work, it was pointed out.

A further conference on the water lines project between city and WPA officials will be held soon.

Crippled Clinic To Open Friday

Twice a year the 300 crippled children of Allegheny county assemble that skilled surgeons may review their cases and help them back to health or the greatest possible degree of comfort.

This Friday and Saturday they will be gathered together again in the basement of City Hall for the semi-annual clinic arranged by the Allegheny County League for Crippled Children.

Some will hear from Dr. George E. Bennett and Dr. George O. Eaton the word they have longed for—the word that previously recommended treatment has been successful, that they are well again.

New hope will be held out to others, some will have new treatment or new appliances prescribed, others will be told that an operation is called for.

It means two busy days, this parade of hope and sorrow, Miss Henrietta Schwarzenbach, league president, and Miss Vivian Lambert, executive secretary, are in charge of arrangements.

Others taking an active part are Miss Nathaniel Guggenheimer, in charge of registration; Miss Nell Bane; Miss Elma Lee George, associate physio-therapist; Miss Jane Oliver, state orthopedic nurse; Miss Mary E. Church, executive secretary of the Maryland League for Crippled Children; Miss Margaret Hurlington, of the staff of the Maryland league; various public health nurses; and several members of the Junior Volunteer Service Corps.

Judges Ponder Fates of Two Men Charged With Driving Death Truck

The fate of two men, both charged with a manslaughter which only one of them could possibly have committed, rested today with Judge D. Lindley Sloan and Associate Judge William A. Huster.

Sharply conflicting testimony in the trial of Belford Grapes, 32, of Cumberland, and William H. Moore, 22, of Harrisonburg, Va., was brought to a close in Circuit court late yesterday afternoon, and the court promised a decision today.

Tried for Manslaughter

Grapes and Moore are both charged with manslaughter by the State in connection with the death of Michael E. McKenzie, 24, of Cumberland, in an automobile-truck crash on the Oldtown road July 3.

Neither of the defendants had been conclusively identified as the driver of the truck which ploughed into the McKenzies' car, killing McKenzies and injuring several others, State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris declared in his opening statement Tuesday, and he presented the cases against both men.

Testimony Conflicts

The two judges, trying the case after the defendants waived trial by jury, pondered last night over the mass of contradictory testimony presented by the dozen-odd witnesses who paraded to the stand.

Aside from the statements of the two defendants—one of whom flatly denied being the driver, while the other admitted that he "might have been"—chief testimony came from other occupants of the truck, persons arriving on the scene shortly after the crash, State police officers, and County Investigator Terence J. Boyle.

Grapes Accuses Moore

Occupants of the McKenzies' car were all injured and "dazed" in the crash and were unable to shed any light on the identity of the driver of the truck.

Grapes, placed on the stand late in the afternoon, accused Moore of being the driver of the truck at the time of the accident.

Moore, who followed Grapes to the stand, testified that he "might or might not have been" the driver.

"I don't know whether I was driving at the time or not," he said, adding that drinking "three bottles of ale" at a roadside between Paw Paw and the scene of the accident was "the last thing I remember" until reaching Cumberland later in the evening.

Denies Written Statement

The accident occurred about 3 p. m. and Moore, who left the scene of the crash, said he arrived at the home of Floyd Thomas Grapes, a cousin of the other defendant, after dark.

He didn't remember admitting to State police that night that he had been the driver, he said.

He also disclaimed knowledge of a written statement to the same effect made in the State's attorney's office the morning of July 4.

Although identifying his signature on the statement, he said that "I don't remember signing it."

Drinking Admitted

Sgt. A. M. Spioch and George J. Miller, of the State police, had testified as to his admission to them, and County Investigator Boyle had read his July 4 statement into the record.

Both defendants, as well as other occupants of the truck, freely admitted that a quantity of whiskey and beer had been consumed by all of them, although there was some conflict as to the amount and the places the drinks were taken. The drinking started early on the morning of July 3 and continued until shortly before the fatal accident, the testimony showed.

Against Grapes' denial that he was the driver was the statement of Homer Grapes, his cousin, another member of the ill-fated excursion.

Grapes Driver, Say Cousins

When the party left the Roby roadhouse—last stop before the crash—Balford Grapes was at the wheel, his cousin said, and was driving when the truck struck the car.

Balford was "slightly intoxicated," he knew what he was doing," he declared.

Floyd Thomas Grapes, Homer's brother, also gave testimony to the effect that Balford was the driver of the death-vehicle.

The witness, whose testimony was sharply challenged by Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Grapes, asserted that Balford told him at the hospital that night that "I was driving the truck at the time, but don't tell nobody."

He added that Jesse Arnold, another occupant of the truck, who was in the same hospital room with Balford, also said that Balford was the driver.

Memory Hazy

"Yes, he was driving, but don't tell nobody," Arnold was quoted as saying.

Arnold, one of the first witnesses on the stand, had previously testified that Moore was driving when the party left Paw Paw, but said he recalled nothing of the stop at Roby's.

Testimony tending to point to Grapes as the driver was also presented by Charles Wheeler, formerly of Spring Gap, who came upon the scene directly after the accident. Grapes was on the seat of the truck when he arrived, he declared, and "almost under the wheel."

"I asked him who was driving," Wheeler continued, "and he said he was."

Torn Trousers Figure

William A. Gunter, attorney for Moore, sought to show a connection between a gash on Grapes' left leg, in the region of the knee, with the broken handle of the window-winding device of the left-hand door of the cab.

His questioning of State Trooper Miller revealed that Grapes had such a gash on his leg and that his left trousers-leg was ripped correspondingly.

On the sharp points of the broken handle were found "a few small hairs," the officer said.

The device was "just about knee-high," Miller stated. "It would strike a man sitting in the truck about at his knee."

Moore Not Injured

There was no cut in the left leg of Moore's trousers and no injury to the left knee, the officer added.

The knee injury was said by Grapes to have been caused when his left leg was jammed between the gear shift lever and the emergency brake.

Insisting that Moore was driving, he said he was sitting next to him. The fact that Grapes' leg and foot were somehow "caught" was attested to by his cousin, Homer, and by Wheeler.

"Mystery Man" Mentioned

Homer testified, however, that it was Balford's right leg and foot, while Wheeler merely said that his foot was "caught," and that another man, who remained unidentified throughout the trial, took off Balford's shoe in order to free him.

Grapes was placed in still another position by the testimony of Ellisworth Emery, driver of a Potomac Edison bus, who said he was "the first person on the scene, except for a man standing in the middle of the road," who remained unidentified.

Balford Grapes was sitting on the extreme right side of the cab, Emery said, Mrs. Balford Grapes was next to him, and Homer Grapes was "just to the right of the wheel."

Scene Called "Gory"

He saw neither Moore nor Arnold, he added.

Describing the scene as "rather gory," he said he heard the crash "about a half mile away."

"It sounded like a freight train on which the air brakes had been applied," he declared.

Unable to state definitely who was driving at the time of the accident, Mrs. Grapes, wife of the defendant, declared that Moore was driving when they left Roby's and shortly before the crash.

Dr. Blair M. Schindler, who examined the victim when he was brought to the hospital, stated that he was "dead on arrival" as a result of a fractured skull, compound fracture of the leg, and other injuries.

Victims' Relatives Testify

Dr. Schindler also testified that Moore "seemed to me perfectly normal" when released from the hospital to go to the state's attorney's office on the morning of July 4.

Mary Regina McKenzie, 26, and Paul M. McKenzie, 15, sister and brother of the dead man, and William Goetz, 20, all occupants of the ill-fated car, also testified but were unable to do more than briefly describe the crash, the speed of the vehicles just prior to it, and their position afterward.

They failed to identify either of the defendants as the driver, all declaring that they were "dazed." Goetz, however, identified Arnold as being on the seat of the truck, "on the right side," immediately following the accident.

The State rested its case at 2:45 p. m., the Grapes defense rested at 3:20 p. m., and the Moore defense, at 4:10 p. m.

on High Roads Low Roads and By-Ways

Bob King took time out while caravanning with the Democrats on Tuesday through the county to tell a tale of three flocks of geese he gazed at while hunting squirrels on Rocky Gap late last week. He said the geese made so much racket as they approached that he figured it was a pack of hounds after rabbits. The din increased, he said, then seemed to fade and, since he saw no dogs from a vantage point of the locality, it occurred to him to look heavenward. There he saw, flying to the South, the V-formation flock. Two more came over within a half hour. Mr. King's son and a friend were along on the trip and, though the former failed to get a "gander" at the geese, his companion did sight the three flocks in flight and verified Mr. King's story. SO, said Mr. King, we are going to have falling weather soon. And, as this is being typed, the atmosphere is just a mile colder in accordance with the weather forecast of yesterday afternoon.

City Commissioner Tom Conlon who was trying to seat more people in the Strand Theatre Tuesday night than there were seats in the house, hopes the gabby gentleman who went outside to wait for him, is no longer waiting. Conlon called the gentleman's attention to the fact that he was out-talking the speakers on the stage, and, in fact, distracting his fellow Democrats. He told the gentleman he'd have to go outside to talk. "You put me out," declared the distracting Democrat. "No, you go outside and I'll come out," chortled Conlon.

The DD was in just that mood, and hastily hid himself from the theatre to await Conlon outside. He was still waiting, still talking and not so still at the knees, when the Democrats departed and the theatre was closed. Conlon asked him when passing, "Are you waiting for someone, buddy?" "You tell 'em I am! Stay here and watch what I do to this guy, when he comes out!" answered the DD, only his tongue, by this time, was thick and he said his say with as much s-s-s-s-sing as a popping-off radiator. Conlon didn't have time to stay, he told him, and went his way while the wavering waiter waited.

The powers-that-be in control of our city coppers may have a ban that makes them button their lips when it comes to telling anything to typewriter thumpers (newspapermen to some people) but an officer off duty, not through any desire of his own, at least can call and tell that his enforced idleness is at an end. And "high roads, low roads and by-ways" welcomes back to their beats Officer James E. Kelley and Policeman Robert "Sparky" Chisholm. They both returned to duty today after three days duty free and without dough for minor infractions of the rules and regulations. Chisholm was riding in a side-car of Kelley's motorcycle.

Chisholm should not have been riding at the time. He was supposed to be having been at Maryland avenue on traffic duty. Kelley should not have been riding Chisholm, and there you have, and the boys had two days off.

RFC Delays Reply On Loan for City

Heskett, III at Home, Will Receive Washington's
Answer by Mail

Charles Z. Heskett, city solicitor, said last night that Reconstruction Finance Corporation officials were unable to give him a definite answer to his request for a loan for the city to meet the deficit in the general improvement bond account and to enable the city to keep up its share of WPA projects.

Mr. Heskett said he was assured that a definite answer would be forthcoming by mail in a few days. Mr. Heskett conferred with RFC officials in Washington Tuesday.

He returned early yesterday and was confined to his bed all day with a bad cold.

The city administration hopes to obtain a short term loan from the RFC to meet the $37,000 deficit in the general improvement bond account and pay twenty city employees assigned to WPA projects who went unpaid last Saturday.

A bond issue is seen as the only alternative if the RFC denies the city's request.
